Claims 13-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claims 13 and 19, there is no clear antecedent basis for "said carrier", since these claims earlier recite a "carrier powder", as opposed to a "carrier". The word "suitable" throughout the claims renders the scope of the claims vague and indefinite. In claim 19, lines 7 and 8, the steps of "filter precipitates" and "evaporate said suitable solvent" is unclear in that these recitations are ungrammatical. The word "filter" should be changed to --filtering-- and "evaporate" should be changed to --evaporating -- to avoid this rejection. Claims 13-26 are also confusing in that they are entirely underlined, and it is not clear whether applicant intends the claims to be fully underlined. If applicant so intends, it is unclear as to what the significance would be of the underlining. Claims 13-26 should be resubmitted as new claims 27-40, without the underlining, to avoid this rejection.

The references are made of record for disclosing various processes for producing metal borohydrides.

This application apparently discloses allowable subject matter.
